Dear Dr. Adams:

UC Medical Center's pharmacy summer internship is my top choice. My previous hospital-based experience, public health education skills and language abilities mean I will quickly be able to contribute to your team, as I develop the clinical skills I gained as a first year UCSF pharmacy student.

My public health experience focuses on education and outreach around preventable diseases, including diabetes, heart disease and smoking secession and lung cancer. I gained these skills as an intern at Community Care, a not-for-profit community-based health education and outreach organization in partnership with Oakland Children's Hospital. For the past three years, I have grown comfortable presenting health information tailored for Latino and Asian populations with Nurse Practitioners, medical residents and nutritionists in the Hospital and community centers. At times, I have used my Spanish and Mandarin language skills in a medical capacity, serving as a translator during the question and answer periods after the presentations.

My interest in at the UCSF hospital internship reflects my desire to work with a diverse patient population, exposed to the widest range of clinical issues. Ultimately, I intend to have career that focuses on hospital and community based clinical organizations focused on outreach and education. Your internship will give me the opportunity to strengthen my hospital based experience.

Thank you,

Benjamin Franklin
